Weather Key Points

Regional Operations Center

Western Region

Friday, November 11

- Below normal temperatures will persist over much of the state through the weekend and early next week, with overnight low temperatures dipping into the 30s across the Central Valley and even for areas closer to the coast at times. Readings over the higher elevations will reach the single digits.
- Areas of overnight and morning dense fog are expected across the Central Valley through the weekend, with locally significant reductions to visibility expected
- Light valley rain and mountain snow will occur over portions of northern California late Friday through Saturday night, including the northern Sierra. Snow levels will hover between 3,500 and 4,500 feet, though no widespread or significant impacts are expected at this time with mountain snowfall amounts of 1 to 3 inches
- Locally breezy winds gusting up to 45 mph are expected over the Los Angeles and Ventura County mountains Friday, bringing locally elevated fire weather conditions
 - Additional breezy winds are forecast across much of southern California on Sunday
 - A Santa Ana wind event is looking likely Tuesday through Thursday (strongest Wednesday) in southern California, with locally elevated fire weather conditions

COVID-19 SUMMARY

Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19)

On 03/02/20 at 0700 hours, the Cal OES State Operations Center (SOC) activated at Level 1 in support of the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) Medical Health Coordination Center's (MHCC) statewide response to COVID-19. Cal OES will continue to provide resource coordination for the COVID-19 event, as well as situation status reporting and advance planning across multiple areas.

SMARTER Plan

On 10/17/22, Governor Newsom unveiled the "California Smarter Plan Updates October 2022". The plan emphasizes continued readiness, awareness and flexibility and helps ensure California can maintain its focus on communities that continue to be disproportionately impacted and stay prepared to swiftly and effectively respond to emerging COVID-19 variants and changing conditions. Governor Newsom is set to lift the State of Emergency in early 2023, and this update provides information on California's progress to date and how we move forward.
